FOREWORD

Books, teachers, prayer, laughter, music, socials, and tests compose our school life. In the past year we have enjoyed working and playing together. Although our experiences have not all been joyous ones, we can recall with satisfaction the many pleasant times we have had. As we reminisce, we invite you to share with us our many memories.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to those who have helped to make this edition a reality.

DEDICATION

In appreciation for the Christian training we have received at J. M. S. , we gratefully dedicate this 1956 MEM-O-RE to the cause of Christian Education.

BUILDERS

Hattie Vose Hall

A Builder builded a temple,
He wrought it with grace and skill;
Pillars and groins and arches
All fashioned to work his will.
Men said, as they saw its beauty,
"It shall never know decay;
Great is thy skill, O Builder!
Thy fame shall endure for aye."

A Teacher builded a temple
With loving and infinite care,
Planning each arch with patience,
Laying each stone with prayer.
None praised her unceasing efforts,
None knew of her wondrous plan,
For the temple the Teacher builded
Was unseen by the eyes of man.

Gone is the Builder's temple,
Crumbled in to the dust;
Low lies each stately pillar,
Food for consuming rust,
But the temple the Teacher builded
Will last while the ages roll,
For that beautiful unseen temple
Was a child's immortal soul.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

The nine men, who are chosen annually by the patron body, spend many hours each month planning and working for J.M.S. The tasks sometimes are not too pleasant, but there are pleasant duties which they do perform.

These men are conscious of the responsibilities that are placed upon them. Through their untiring efforts the school has prospered and students have gone from the school with their blessings. Through the help of the patron body problems have been solved, and by the constant prayer and financial support of each patron, even greater things can be accomplished.

The board is indeed grateful for the splendid teaching staff. They hope for the continuance of such high ideals which have helped the school in the past. May God's blessings be upon you, teachers, and may your reward be in the many lives you have touched and helped to start aright.

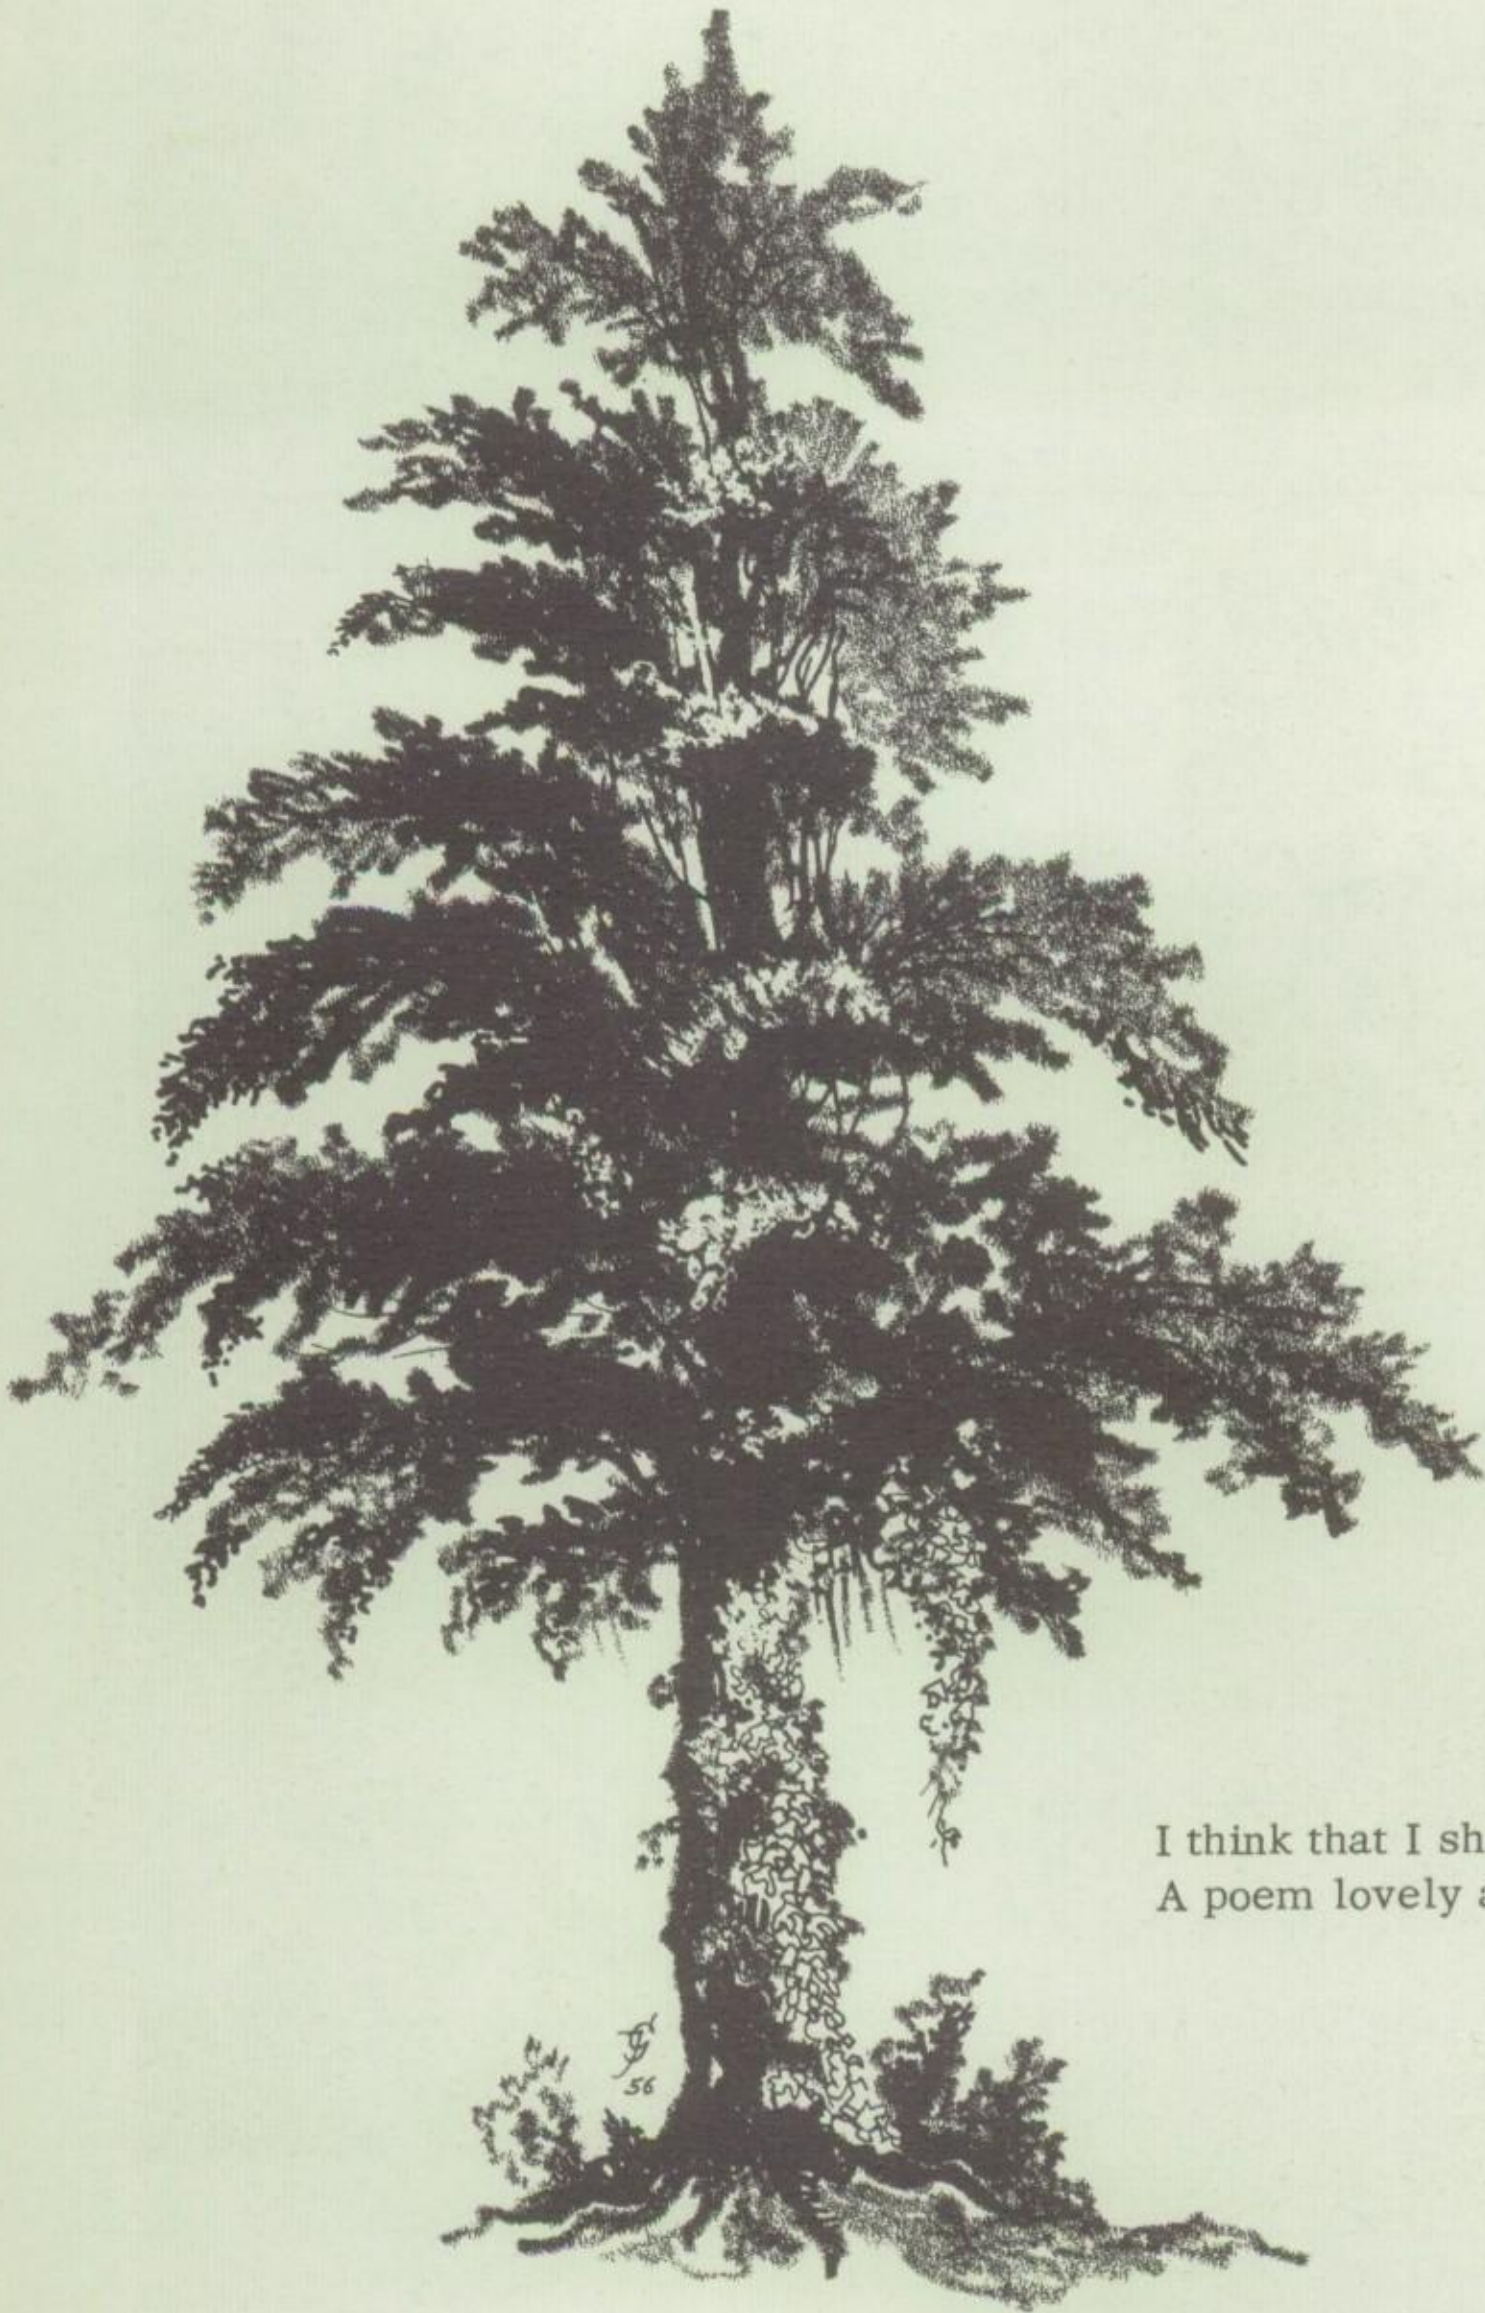

Our constant prayer is that the students of our school will be well aware of the golden opportunity they have of attending a Christian school. Give of your best, and the best will return sevenfold.

Shall we, the teachers, the students, and the patrons, work together for the glory of Christ's kingdom in preparing lives for eternity?

HIGH SCHOOL

"The Christian School is Applied Christianity in the Field of Education"

Dear Graduating Class:

You have come from good homes. You have parents that have taught you from childhood those precious virtues that build sterling character. They have invested heavily in you. They bought you food, clothing, and the extra things. They chose to send you to a Christian school, which meant additional costs, even to the point of denying themselves, at times, of such things as new curtains or new floor coverings or a new model car. Literally, they have invested several thousands of dollars in you.

Your teachers here have given you additional help at a sacrificial price. The patrons' group, as a body, have expended additional dollars to make this kind of training possible.

Now you are stepping out on your own. People are watching you carefully and not always too fairly. They expect graduates of J.M.S. to make no mistake--to do things right, and always be the ideal person. A wrong move will not only reflect on you but most definitely on your home and on the school. The school, especially, will feel the sting of criticism if you get into the wrong crowd of companions, choose a bad job, marry the wrong person, or perhaps (incidentally) fail to behave in church. It is true, they do not watch quite so closely those who haven't gone to a Christian school.

But--can you meet this challenge? Can you, will you be true to your innermost convictions and the ideals implanted into you? That is my chief concern. I am concerned, of course, that you SERVE Him in some useful way; but, above all that you first LIVE for Him, for criticism or no criticism, it is, after all, our obligation to do what is right for the sake of right. In this difficult task I wish you God's special blessing.

Sincerely yours,

Sanford G. Shetler

On the evening of May 13, 1955, the Juniors and Seniors, with the faculty members, met promptly at J.M.S. at 5:00 p.m. What was all the excitement about? They were going to _____? --that's what the Seniors wanted to know.

Finally after the tantalizing Juniors had driven their guests around for nearly an hour, they unexpectedly arrived at Weller's Dairy.

Each Senior was greeted at the door by a Junior, then led into the dining room where a tempting and delicious turkey dinner awaited them.

Everyone was pleased to have Bro. Paul Bender (a former teacher of J.M.S.) for the guest speaker. A quartet presented a special number. Joan Hershberger read the class will and prophecy and Louise Miller entertained us with a piano solo. Lois Shetler gave a monologue, followed by group singing and prayer. Everyone departed feeling both inspired and saddened that another senior year had drawn to a close.

JUNIORS

French fries, Ideals, banquet, class night, and studies describe our junior year. In the fall of the year we sold French fries (the boys peeled the potatoes) and Christmas Ideals magazines. This hard-earned money was used this spring to give the Seniors a good time at the annual Junior-Senior banquet. Another enjoyable night for our class was the class night sponsored by our adviser, Miss Kauffman. We are all looking forward to next year, our best and final year at J.M.S.

FRESHMEN

Entering high school is something like learning to float--it's fun once you get into the swing of it. We freshmen soon got into the swing of it and it's fun!

For a class project we thought it would be fun to sell popcorn at an auction. It was a cold day and we had cold popcorn; therefore, we didn't make out so well. We are planning for the three years ahead, hoping by the time we're seniors we'll have a bulging treasury! Spiritually, we hope to make some gains too, and end each year better than we began it.

The Junior High School group found school life to be very interesting this year. Because of the small group, a greater opportunity for self-expression in classwork and recreation periods was possible.

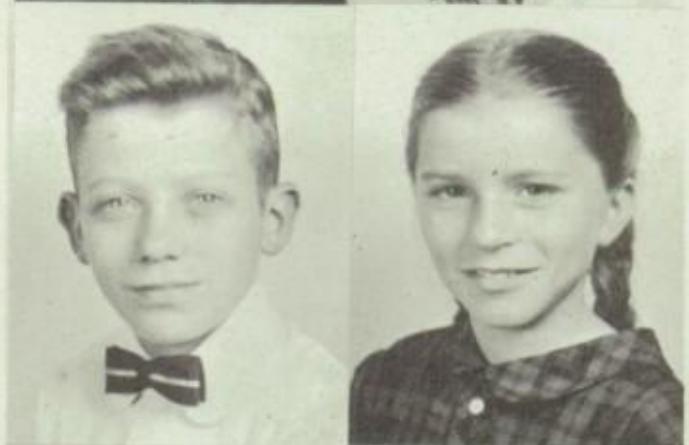

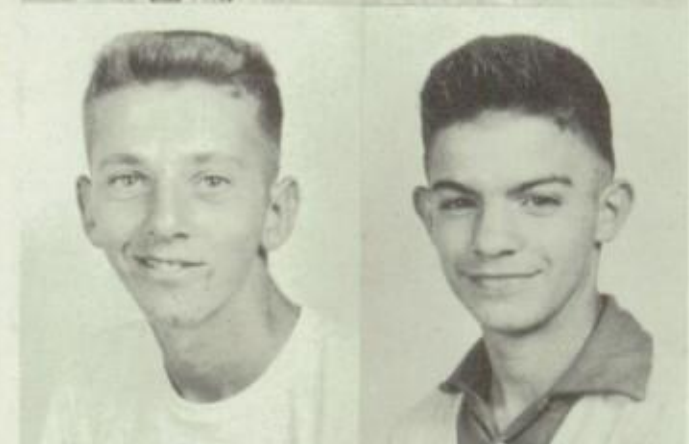

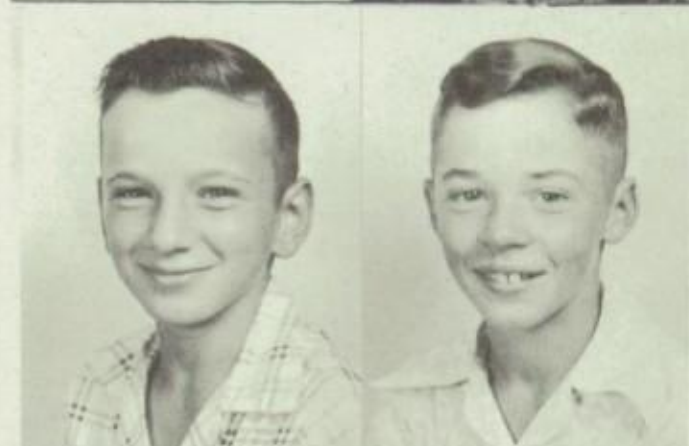

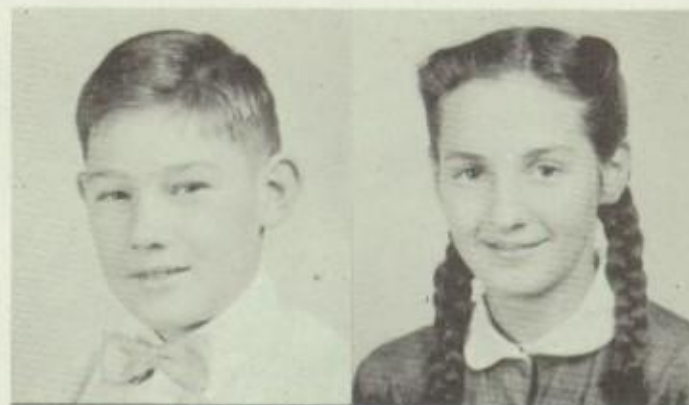

In history we studied about early civilization and in geography about the European countries. The classes in "Home Life in Bible Times" gave us a better understanding of the Bible. In connection with this a Bible dinner was held which was enjoyed very much.

The socials of the year were times for secrecy, fun, laughter, and excitement and added the "spice" to our educational program.

COMMITTEE

Our morning chapel period was one of the high lights of the day. We left this period feeling refreshed and ready to go on with the work that was before us.

In regular chapel messages, Bro. Shetler and Bro. Lehman presented to us advice and encouragement which meant much to us.

At various times during the year we were privileged to have visiting speakers with us. Among these were foreign missionaries and ministers from other places. The messages they brought to us out of their experiences have enriched our lives and made us better fitted for Christian service.

Music rolls through the halls of J.M.S. and suddenly stops--somebody flatted a note! Our chief aim is to glorify God but we want to do it as perfectly as we can.

The major event of our school year for the chorus is the annual spring tour. We enjoy the opportunity of meeting new friends and getting acquainted with other places.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

POP

Moses Yoder, Mary Lou Shetler, Carlton Yoder, Bernadine Thomas, Glenn Lehman, Bro. Shetler

Among the various committees at J.M.S. is the all-important social committee.

In the past years the aim has been to have one social a month, but no one has ever reached it. Our aim has been to have a social about every two months. It seems as if our socials were even better than before. It was fun both planning for them and cleaning up afterward.

We have appreciated the co-operation of the rest of the high-school pupils this past year; they have helped to make our socials successful.

FIDELIAN LITERARY

If on a Friday morning you opened a door to see a roomful of happy students, you might wonder just what caused their jolly mood. Could it be that the school week is almost ended? Upon inquiry you would find that these are the members of the Fidelian Literary. These students have a keen eye for the unusual and produce programs which increase their originality, ability, and experience. Each member has become an important part of our literary and it has become an important part of them.

NEO-DISCARIAN LITERARY

The aim of the Neo-Discarian Literary is more uplifting and educational programs to help prepare its members for future usefulness. The programs have been more than interesting and every Neo has helped to make them so. Charades, debates, poetry, parliamentary law drills, and special music have been featured on the programs. Thus many opportunities have been given to gain more knowledge plus experience in public speaking.

ATHLETIC COMMITTEE

The Athletic Committee is composed of eight members, six from the high school and two from the junior high room.

During the year the committee arranged for tournaments in football, basketball, and ping-pong; therefore, keeping the students well supplied with activity and giving added interest to the school year. This committee also was responsible for the purchase and care of the athletic equipment.

The committee has appreciated the co-operation of the students with their plans and in the care of equipment.
